Chickadee Prince Books Announces the Release of Trevor the Noteable G.O.A.T.: A Triumphant Tale of Music and Friendship for a Boy with Autism

GREENWICH, CT — March 17, 2026 — Chickadee Prince Books, an imprint of Measure Publishing, announces the release of Trevor the Noteable G.O.A.T.: A Triumphant Tale of Music and Friendship for a Boy with Autism by Martha Summa-Chadwick with Ava Navin (ISBN: 978-1-966136-07-1).

This is a heartfelt middle-grade novel that introduces readers to Trevor Chaplin, a brilliant but socially awkward fifth grader who has recently been diagnosed with autism. When a pop quiz reveals Trevor's extraordinary math abilities, his classmates recognize that he possesses a remarkable gift. But it is through music—and the guidance of a caring music teacher who is also a music therapist—that Trevor begins to discover his confidence, his voice, and his place in the world.

The book's unique title is a play on words: Trevor is celebrated as the "Noteable G.O.A.T." (Greatest of All Time) for his new connection with musical notes and his personal achievements. As Trevor navigates friendships, school challenges, and the journey toward believing in himself, his perseverance leads him to unexpected opportunities, including new friends who join with him to form a band as they share their joy in music. Along the way, Trevor learns that the qualities that make him different are also the ones that make him extraordinary.

Warm, uplifting, and inspiring, Trevor the Noteable G.O.A.T. celebrates the power of music, friendship, and self-discovery.

About the Authors

Martha Summa-Chadwick has attained a national reputation as an educator, presenter, performer, and advocate for the cause of music in therapy. She has a Doctor of Musical Arts Degree from the University of Kansas, where she majored in piano performance and studied music therapy. She is the Executive Director of the nonprofit organization Music Therapy Gateway in Communications, Inc., and is a frequent guest speaker at both national and regional conferences discussing the use of biomedical music techniques for challenged children. Dr. Summa-Chadwick has given three TED talks and established a series of both chamber and solo concerts to help educate diverse audiences in an overview of biomedical music protocols, and how music can be used in collaboration with improved neural learning patterns. She is also exploring how bio-medical music protocols could be automated into software applications for persons with motor, speech, or cognition challenges. She lives in Tennessee.

Ava Navin is an editor with a Master of Arts degree. She has extensive experience with publications and other products of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, both as health communicator and senior writer-editor. She lives in Colorado.

The authors are available for author talks, continuing education lectures, alumni programs, reading groups, and book club events.
